The Golden Auto

A talking auto-rickshaw and a boy with goggles become the city's unofficial rescue service for lost treasures.

Issue 03 · Action comedy · Old Delhi

Lead: Chotu Malik & Sonu the Auto

Original Indian c

The Golden Auto • Issue 03

Panel 1 of 6

Chandni Chowk at hour of kites. Gravity is a suggestion.

SONU THE AUTO

“Meter’s off. Adventure’s on. Hold the handle, Chotu.”

VROOM

Chotu found Sonu sleeping under a tarp, humming an old filmi horn in his dreams.

CHOTU

“Autos don’t talk. Also, autos don’t fly. So we’re already two impossibilities late.”

HONK!

Dadi's wedding necklace is in a smuggler van that thinks spice lanes are a racetrack.

SONU

"They have a van. We have personality. And altitude."

SKRRR

The necklace returns to a grandmother who thought the city had grown too fast to be kind.

DADI

“Keep the goggles, beta. The city needs witnesses.”

JINGLE

Diwali night: fireworks, kites, and a golden auto writing a new route across the sky.

CHOTU

“Tonight we deliver lost things. Tomorrow — maybe homework.”

BOOM

The Golden Auto • Issue 03

Panel 6 of 6

A hand-painted board appears on a lane wall: LOST? FLAG THE GOLDEN AUTO.

NARRATOR

“Delhi has a million vehicles. Only one of them keeps secrets and altitude.”
